

Moneybox and NCR Sign Deal for Extra 1,250 Convenience ATMs

February 1, 2001 at 10:32 AM EST

LONDON, Feb. 1 /PRNewswire/ -- Moneybox Corporation Limited, operator of the UK's largest independent network of convenience ATMs, today announced a deal with NCR Corporation (NYSE: NCR) for 1,250 ATMs, associated software and maintenance services for deployment at locations such as convenience stores, leisure centers, gas stations, pubs and nightclubs.

The multi-million dollar agreement includes new software that will enable Moneybox to centrally manage multi-media advertising through ATMs. For the first time campaigns can be designed and distributed with ease, either by geography or type of location, offering extra revenue opportunities to ATM deployers. For instance, Moneybox will be able to target customers at specific times in stores, nightclubs or pubs, linking promotions to products or services at the location.

"We are delighted to extend our relationship with NCR through the purchase of an additional 1,250 ATMs," said Paul Stanley, Managing Director of Moneybox. "With over 1,000 already installed and plans for further growth this shows that the demand for convenience ATMs is soaring."

Moneybox's success heralds the likely expansion of convenience located ATMs cross Europe in 2001, believes Tony Grandidge, vice president for NCR's Financial Solutions Division in Europe, the Middle East and Africa. "We have seen the UK's total installed base of convenience ATMs increase to around 3,000 during 2000, and this year we are likely to see other European countries follow the example.

"New technology means ATMs are becoming self-service touchpoints, delivering not only convenient cash but also other valuable items such as coupons, tickets and tailored promotions. These ATMs, installed at convenient locations, will increasingly appeal to consumers as more Europeans shift to a 24/7 lifestyle."

Under terms of the deal announced today NCR supplies the ATM hardware and software and provides ongoing software support and maintenance. Moneybox manages the ATM remotely and provides support services such as cash delivery, leaving the site owner free to manage its business.
