Santikos Theatres implements new offering across all sites, using real-time access to automated analytics to make better operational decisions

DULUTH, Ga., Dec 19, 2011 (BUSINESS WIRE) --NCR Corporation (NYSE: NCR) today announced the launch of Reel Time(TM), a new dashboard and custom reporting solution that takes the complexity out of analyzing data and intuitively gives theatre operators the information needed to make operational decisions. Operators can use this solution in a wide variety of ways, including monitoring concession or snack bar sales to quickly evaluate the impact of promotions, new products or price changes and adjusting staffing levels at any time based on site performance.

Integrated with Radiant theatre applications, Reel Time provides theatre operators with a real-time dashboard view of current and historical data for ticket and concession sales, attendance, feature gross and total revenue. Data can be viewed centrally or separated by region, district and site. Compatible with Windows, iOS and Android operating systems, Reel Time can be installed on mobile devices, tablets and PC computers for use in any environment.

"Theatre operators need to have direct insight into their business to make important operational decisions at the moment of truth," said Brian Whitney, general manager, NCR Hospitality and Specialty Retail. "As an example, operators can sell more tickets by having immediate insight into when an auditorium is approaching capacity to negotiate with a studio to add show times."

Santikos Theatres, whose founder was a pioneer in the Texas motion picture industry, implemented the Reel Time solution across all of its sites in October 2011.

"The best part of this solution is the flexibility and simplicity of setting up reports however we want them," said Arthur Seago, director of technology and assets, Santikos Theatres. "Having access to actionable data at any time also gives us the freedom to make practical decisions no matter where we are."

NCR acquired Radiant Systems, Inc. in August 2011, positioning the company as the leader in hospitality and specialty retail with more than 100,000 installations worldwide. Customers include leading brands and venues in the restaurant and food service, sports and entertainment, petroleum and convenience and specialty retail markets.
