PayPal and QuickBooks Integration, Customer Service a Big Draw

DULUTH, Ga.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jan. 11, 2016-- When Richard Morenberg opened a brick-and-mortar store for his Bronx, N.Y. computer servicing company, he chose NCR Silver[®], the tablet point-of-sale (POS) system from NCR Small Business.

Morenberg was looking for a user-friendly, all-in-one solution he could use during his field contract work. He also wanted a POS system that ran seamlessly on numerous devices.

"The ability to use one platform to run my business on multiple devices makes NCR Silver the versatile, comprehensive solution I need," said Morenberg, owner of BX Computers LLC. "Additionally, the world-class customer support team and online resources continually impress me as I begin taking advantage of more features."

Morenberg also values the system's integration with PayPal and QuickBooks. He takes customers' email addresses and plans to start using NCR Silver's email marketing functionality to keep them up to date on promotions and product upgrades.

"NCR Silver's scalability provides small business owners the opportunity to get exactly what they need out of a POS system," said Chris Poelma, president and general manager of NCR Small Business. "It is simple enough that our customers can start using it right out of the box, but as they have more time to explore all of its various features, they can expand how they use it to help run their businesses better."
