Additionally, the report shows NCR has the largest market share in new POS software deployments. NCR made advancements in new Grocery + installations as many retailers have added POS software capabilities since the pandemic. This sector encompasses grocery, convenience, and drugstore retailers, making it the fastest growing retail segment.

"The upgrade imperative has hit retail," said David Wilkinson, president and general manager, NCR Retail. "Retailers globally are seeing consumer demand and they are looking to differentiate the in-store experience with software. And with our NCR POS Software that connects to the NCR Commerce Platform retailers and restaurants can do just that. It enables them to introduce new capabilities like advanced loyalty, online ordering or inventory management quickly."

RBR analysis shows market growth in new stores and upgrades by retailers to offer new touchpoints such as cafés or fresher produce. NCR addresses industry demands with solutions that run on the NCR Commerce Platform: the foundation to unify all technology needed to run the store and introduce new capabilities and services faster and more efficiently.

* The Global POS Software 2021 report is based on analysis of projects with over 1,000 POS installations globally, by more than 100 suppliers and comprising over 8 million POS installations. The report includes commentary and insights into eight segments across grocery, general merchandise and hospitality industries in 48 country markets worldwide.
