Integration delivers instantaneous age assurance at checkout to reduce customer friction and support responsible sales practices

ALEXANDRIA, Va. & ATLANTA--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Oct. 6, 2026-- NCR Voyix, a platform-powered leader in unified commerce for shopping and dining, and NACS, the global association representing convenience and fuel retailers, today announced the integration of the TruAge® digital age-verification solution with NCR Voyix point-of-sale (POS) technology in the United States. NCR Voyix RPOS customers can deploy the certified solution through an API integration from Cullinan Group, while the new Voyix POS for CFR solution includes native support for TruAge.

TruAge allows retailers to verify age, identify fake or expired IDs and check purchase limits by scanning a physical or digital driver's license. The solution uses secure, anonymized tokens to confirm eligibility without storing unnecessary personal information, helping retailers strengthen compliance without adding steps for store associates.

"TruAge was built by the industry because the industry believed age assurance was too important to leave to chance—or outside commercial interests. Expanding the TruAge ecosystem through industry-leading technology providers is critical to making digital age verification more accessible for retailers," said Stephanie Sikorski, CEO of TruAge and vice president of strategic initiatives for NACS. "The NCR Voyix integration significantly broadens the availability of TruAge to convenience and fuel retailing. With NCR Voyix joining other industry-leading technology providers, approximately 75% of the convenience marketplace can now access TruAge through their existing point-of-sale technology. That scale is an important step toward making responsible retailing easier, more consistent and built directly into the way retailers already operate and consumers transact."

"NCR Voyix fuel and convenience retail customers continue to value solutions that strengthen compliance while preserving the fast and convenient experience for consumers on the move," said Nick East, Executive Vice President and Chief Product Officer at NCR Voyix. "The integration of TruAge with our point-of-sale applications helps retailers drive efficient operations while enabling responsible sales practices."

"Responsible retailing must evolve in an increasingly digital and policy-driven marketplace," said Frank Gleeson, president and CEO of NACS. "The NCR Voyix integration expands retailer access to TruAge and helps create the consistency, scale and interoperability needed for age assurance to work across the marketplace. This industry-led collaboration strengthens responsible retailing, prevents underage access and ensures convenience retailers help shape the future of age assurance."

TruAge integration with NCR Voyix RPOS is available through Cullinan Group.

"This certified integration makes TruAge available to more than 20,000 stores with NCR Voyix RPOS today," said Craig Panter, CEO of Cullinan Group. "Working with TruAge and NCR Voyix, we are giving retailers a simpler way to modernize age verification at checkout."
